An account of the crime and the arrest of Novak, which occurred in the Klondike, was given in the Globe last Saturday, and, as the prisoner was scheduled to arrive in St. Paul yesterday afternoon, quite a crowd of spectators gathered at the union depot to obtain a look at the prisoner.

Novak, accompanied by Detectives C. C. Perrin and D. L. Klouse, arrived on the Northern Pacific train at 4:40 and as the trio stepped from the rear sleeper there was nothing to indicate that the party were anything except the usual travelers. Novak was not, as is usually the case with prisoners arrested on such serious charges cumbered with handcuffs or leg irons, but he was closely watched in every move he made by the two detectives. The party was met at the depot by C. M. French, general manager of Thiel's detective service, and the local manager, George E. Ives. The two officers having Novak in charge had a whispered conversation of a second or two with Mr. French, and then, followed by a crowd of curious men and boys, the party walked through the depot to a hack and were soon at the office of the Thiel agency in the Germania bank building. Novak seemed the most un concerned one of the party and show-ed no signs of nervousness. In walking through the depot he gazed about him as one who was anxious to take in all

ELECTION OF OFFICERS. Contest Was Friendly but Full of Interest. In the election of officers there was a warm but friendly rivalry for the high honor of the presidency, which was won by the candidate from Wisconsin, ex-Gov. S. D. Hoard. He re-ceived 176 votes. B. F. Clayton, who has held the office for the past four years, received 60, and 85 were cast for the present secretary, J. M. Stahl. Minnesota was allowed to cast only ten votes, despite the fact that there 800 delegates representing the North Star state on the floor.

John M. Stahl, of Chicago, the faithful and hard-working secretary, was e-elected by acclamation. D. O. Lively, the former second assistant secretary, being elected vice president from his state (Texas), Alex Dunlap, of Manistee, Mich., was chosen for this office. T. J. Apleyard, of San-ford, Tex., and G. A. Stockwell, of Providence, R. I., were unanimously elected first and third assistant secretaries respectively. Henry Hayden, of Iowa, declining re-election as treasurer, N. G. Spalding, of New York, was the unanimous choice for that position of trust.
