Early Morning Affray in a Wabasha Street Rum Emporium That May End Seriously for

Shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday morning the central police station patrol wagon took John Moriarty, alias John Lyons, to the city hospital for the purpose of having a deep knife wound through his cheek sewed up, that he might be returned to the central station for confinement during the night.

Moriarty was arrested with his assailant, Putney Smith, and four others, by Lieut. Joe Davis and Patrolman Casserly, at Twombly's saloon, 326 Wabasha street, where two of the five became involved in an altercation early in the small hours, and it was finally agreed to resort to the arbitrament of Queensbury. They met in Twombly's back room, and Lyons was victor. After a little, Smith's satisfaction did not seem to be complete, and they went at it again. Bail was fixed at $1,000, which was furnished yesterday afternoon. Stephen J. McDonough's explanation of the appearance of his name on the registration books of the Fourth and Eleventl precincts of the Second ward is that on the first registration day he was about to move from 978 Conway street, in the Eleventh precinct, to his present house in the Fourth, so he registered in the Eleventh and took a transfer cer-tificate from the judges, so as to have his name entered on the books of his new precinct.

Passing Wagon Drives Over Rope Used to Hoist Material and Scaffolding, on Which Men Stood, Falls.

A fatal accident at the new state cap itol building occurred a few minutes after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Through the breaking of a scaffolding, Albert Swanson, 3801 Fourth street north, Minneapolis, was instantly killed, and Frank Thiery, 358 Erie street, dangerously injured. Both men were employed on the The workmen were engaged, with others, in putting up a scaffolding on the south side of the new building, in front of the east facade. The accident which cost the life of the one, and came near killing the other, was very peculiar in its nature, and resulted from the catching in the wheels of a wagon, of a rope used in elevating material to the top of working with Thiery on the top of the scaffold. The rope used to elevate materials passed over a pully at the top, thence to the ground, and under another pully and to a hoisting machine some distance away. Both men were busily engaged in carrying up the construction of the staging when a stone wagon was driven over the hoisting rope at the feet of the scaffold. One of the wheels caught in the rope by accident, and, before the driver knew that anything was wrong, the horses had carried away the tackle and overbalanced the staging. The entire upper portion of the staging gave way, and Swanson, falling inside, close to the building, struck against projecting timbers, and was dead before he reached the ground, forty feet below Thiery fell on the outer side of the scaffold, and, by what seemed almost a mira-cle, was not killled. His left leg was broken above the knee and he was badly bruised. He fell on a mound of sand, and fared better than he could have hop ed had he struck the ground underneath. Physicians were summoned at once. Swanson was dead, and Thiery was taken at once to the city hospital. Swanson's remains were sent to Minneapolis, where he has friends. He is a single man, and has no relatives in this country. Thiery

Coroner Nelson viewed Swanson's remains and decided an inquest unneces sary, Thiery, on arriving at the hos pital, refused to enter the institution, and was taken to his home. Aside from a broken leg, he is not seriously injured.

An Honest TIRED FEELING

There is an "honest tired feeling," caused by necessary toil and cured by natural rest. But very different is "that tired feeling," from which so many complain and which may even be classed as a disease. That tired feeling takes you to bed tired and wakes you up tired. You have no appetite, have bilious taste, dull headache, are nervous and irritable, blue, weak and discouraged. In such conditions Hood's Sarsaparilla does a world of good. It begins in the right place-in the blood, purifying it and imparting vitality; then its tonic effect is felt by the stomach, kidneys and liver; appetite returns, waste is removed naturally, headaches cease, that tired feeling departs and you feel like a new person. Take Hood's and only Hood's. Get it TODAY.
